

93rd Congress

Senate Profile

57 Democrats -- 43 Republicans

8 new Democrats (average age: 44)

5 new Republicans

5 incumbents lost in general election -- average age: 64

The new senators are younger, and, based on the National Associated Businessmen Study, generally more liberal on fiscal matters and other areas than their predecessors. As a result the new Senate may be slightly more liberal than before.

Two Senate committee chairmanships are open as the result of retirement and election defeats. Based on the assumption that the ranking member will take the chair, the new chairmen will be:

Aeronautical and Space Sciences--Senator Warren G. Magnuson (Wash.) is the ranking majority member but it is unlikely that he would give up his chairmanship of the Commerce Committee. Next in line is Senator Symington.

Rules and Administration--Senator Howard W. Cannon (Nev.) is the senior Democrat and should assume the chair.

Four committees have vacancies because the ranking Republican was defeated or retired:

Armed Services (Senator Margaret Chase Smith)
Agriculture and Forestry (Senator Jack Miller)
Interior and Insular Affairs (Senator Gordon Allott)
Public Works (Senator John Sherman Cooper)

NEW SENATORS - 93rd CONGRESS

93rd Congress

House Profile

243 Democrats -- 191 Republicans -- 1 Independent

26 new Democrats

42 new Republicans

1 new Independent

13 incumbents lost in general election.

3 new blacks (2 of whom are women) TOTAL: 15 House, 1 Senate

5 new women TOTAL: 14 in House, no women in Senate

4 House members ran successfully for Senate

7 new Democratic House Committee Chairmen

Rules Committee -- Representative Ray J. Madden (Ind.) replaces Representative William Colmer (Miss.)

Judiciary Committee -- Representative Peter W. Rodino, Jr. (N. J.)
replaces Representative Emanuel Celler (N. Y.)

Science and Astronautics -- Representative Olin E. Teague (Texas)
replaces Representative George Miller (Calif.)

Veterans' Affairs -- Representative William Jennings Bryan Dorn, Jr.
(S. C.) replaces Representative Olin Teague (Texas)
(assuming he takes Science and Astronautics)

Interior -- Representative James A. Haley (Fla.) replaces
Representative Wayne N. Aspinall (Colo.)

District of Columbia -- Representative Charles Diggs (Mich.) replaces Representative John L. McMillan (S. C.)

Merchant Marine and Fisheries -- Representative Leonor K. Sullivan (Mo.)
replaces Representative Edward A. Garmatz (Md.)

The new Representatives will probably cause no change in the ideological stance of the new House.
